

You'd better do something with that fire. It's going out. Hal peered into the sink and saw the scraps of card were almost gone. He blew on them until they glowed, then stuck one end of the food ration into the yellow flame. It spat and crackled before catching fire with a puff of blue smoke. Er, Hal ... began Stinky. Is it supposed to do that? The fire spread quickly, and Hal dropped the ration bar just before the flames reached his fingers. The bar shattered in the sink and the fragments burned ferociously, filling the kitchen with smoke. Even worse, the evil-smelling fog began to drift into the canteen, hiding all the tables and chairs. Hal, someone's going to see it! See it? muttered Hal. They'll smell it for weeks! They stared into the sink. Lighting the fire had been easy enough, but how did you put one out? Quick, said Hal. Think! BEEEEEP-BEEEEEP-beeeeeep-BEEEEEP! At first Hal thought Stinky's brain had overloaded, but then he recognised the fire alarm. Sirens shrieked, hazard lights flashed, and a panicky voice blared from hidden speakers. Fire alert. Fire alert! Emergency personnel report to the E-section canteen. This is not a drill. I repeat, this is not a drill! Hal and Stinky stared at each other in horror. Now they were really in for it! Space Station Oberon is expecting an important visitor, and everyone is on their best behaviour. Even Hal Junior is doing his best to stay out of trouble! From multi-coloured smoke bombs to exploding space rations, Hal Junior proves ... trouble is what he's best at!
